

INDIVIDUAL SOURCE REPORT 5—USHE/SBR Delivery Methods Report

As reported in the section of this report Challenge 1: Categorization, The University of Utah supplies data to the USHE and State Board of Regents, using seven categories that define Distance Education and learning delivery methods. For Distance Education offerings, the University supplies information for the three categories Broadcast/Telecourses, Online, and Independent/Correspondence Study. The classes are administered by various providers at the University, including UOnline (WebCT Courseware Management system), AOCE (Academic Outreach and Continuing Education), and individual departments and colleges, the Marriott Library and the Eccles Health Sciences Library.

For Fall Semester of 2006 to Summer Semester of 2007, the following chart summarizes the most recent Distance Education offerings and their enrollments from the University of Utah...

USHE REPORT: FALL 2006 to SUMMER 2007

SEMESTER	COURSE OFFERINGS			Totals
	Online	Broadcast Telecourses	Correspondence Study
Fall 2006	86 courses 3330 enrolled	11 courses 261 enrolled	29 courses 64 enrolled	126 courses 3655 enrolled
Spring 2007	93 courses 3998 enrolled	11 courses 330 enrolled	30 courses 54 enrolled	134 courses 4382 enrolled
Summer 2007	88 courses 2871 enrolled	9 courses 166 enrolled	31 courses 83 enrolled	128 courses 3120 enrolled

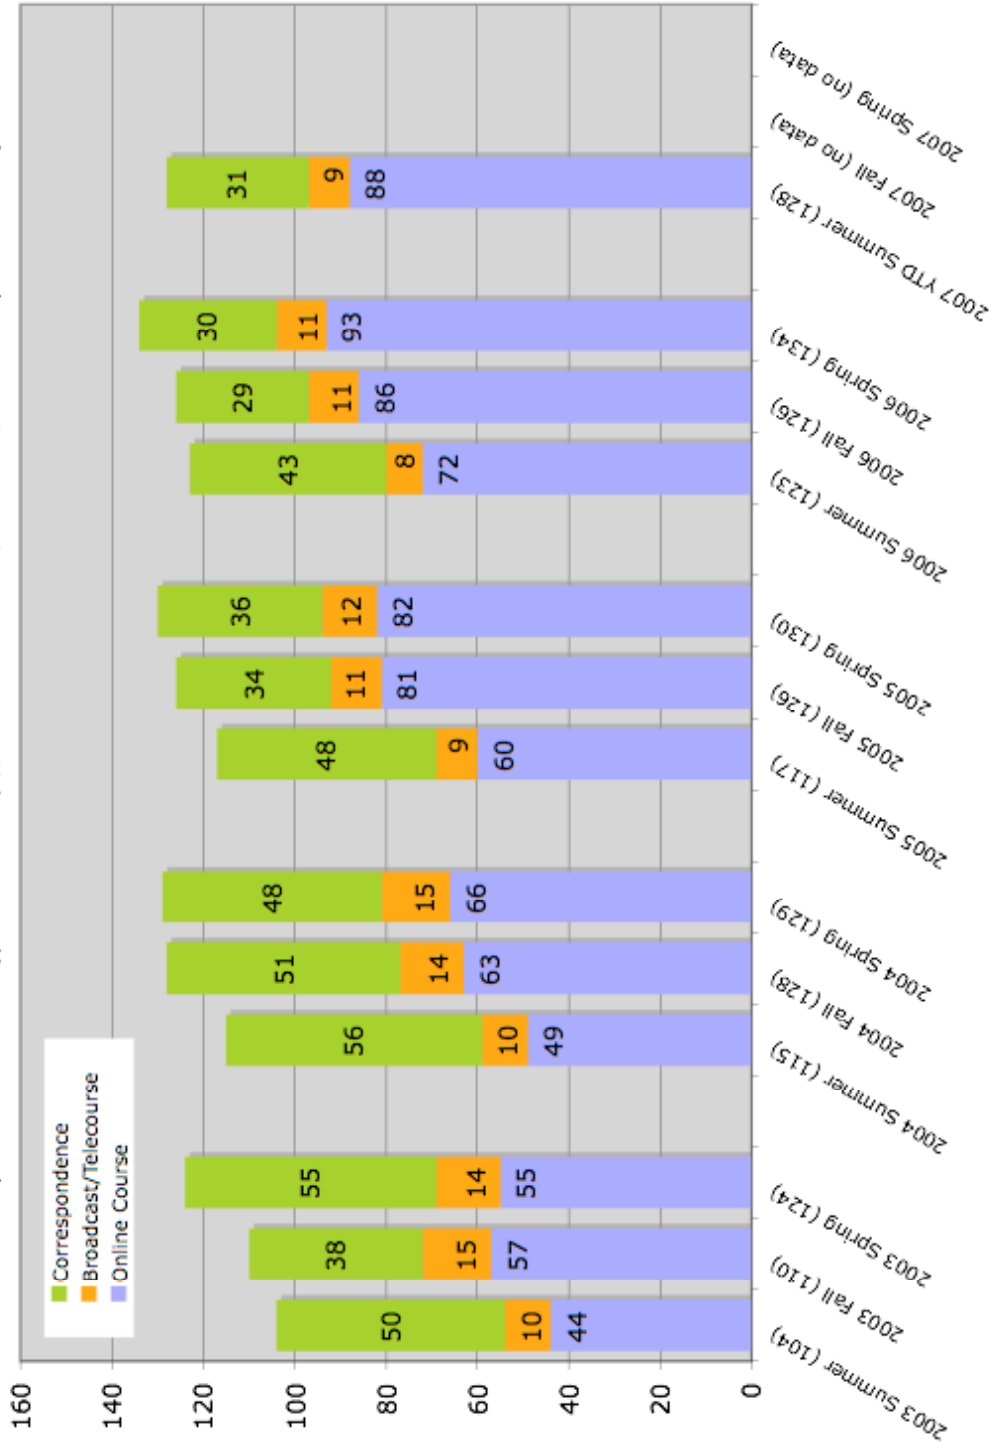

USHE/SBR REPORT: COURSE TYPES, SUMMER 2003 to SUMMER 2007

For a broader picture that reports the type and number of courses offered from a longer period of time from Summer of 2003 to the Summer of 2007, as reported to the USHE, the following chart uses the three categories of Correspondence, Broadcast, and Online Courses.

Univ of Utah Distance Education: Type & Number of Courses 2003-2007

as reported to the Utah State Board of Regents

(Definition of Course Types found at <http://www.media.utah.edu/DistanceEd/USHEdel/verymethods.html>)

For the same period of time and the same course types, the following chart shows the number of enrollments for each category of distance education offerings (Correspondence Study, Broadcast, Online Course)

